

Radio World

INTERNATIONAL EDITION

GERMANY

Mayah Scores at World Cup

Mayah Communications supplied more than 200 Centauri and Centauri II audio gateway codecs to broadcasters for the 2006 FIFA World Cup football tournament.

German radio and television broadcasters, including WDR, ZDF and RTL, used the units to provide live commentary, editorial contributions and technical communication during the event.

Depending on the need of each broadcaster, the Mayah codecs transmit signals over X.21 or ISDN networks and secured high-quality audio for the main signal, as well as for various backup installations such as OB van connectivity.

"There is a growing demand for these audio codecs at various gatherings, so we have organized a pool of 300 units to serve our customers during large events, as we did during the papal visit to Germany or at the Bundestag elections last year," said Mayah CEO Detlef Wiese.

For information from Mayah Communications, contact Uwe Flatter in Germany at telephone: +49-811-5516-0; FAX: +49-811-5516-55; e-mail: info@mayah.com; or visit <http://www.mayah.com/> on the World Wide Web.